Planning Today for a Better Tomorrow

This newly adopted slogan of the city of Salisbury reflects the genuine interest in the future of both the community and of the college. As the new Student Union Building is constructed, S.S.C. acquires new facilities for its expanding enrollment.

Campus Construction

Some Things Remain Unchanged in a

Changing World.

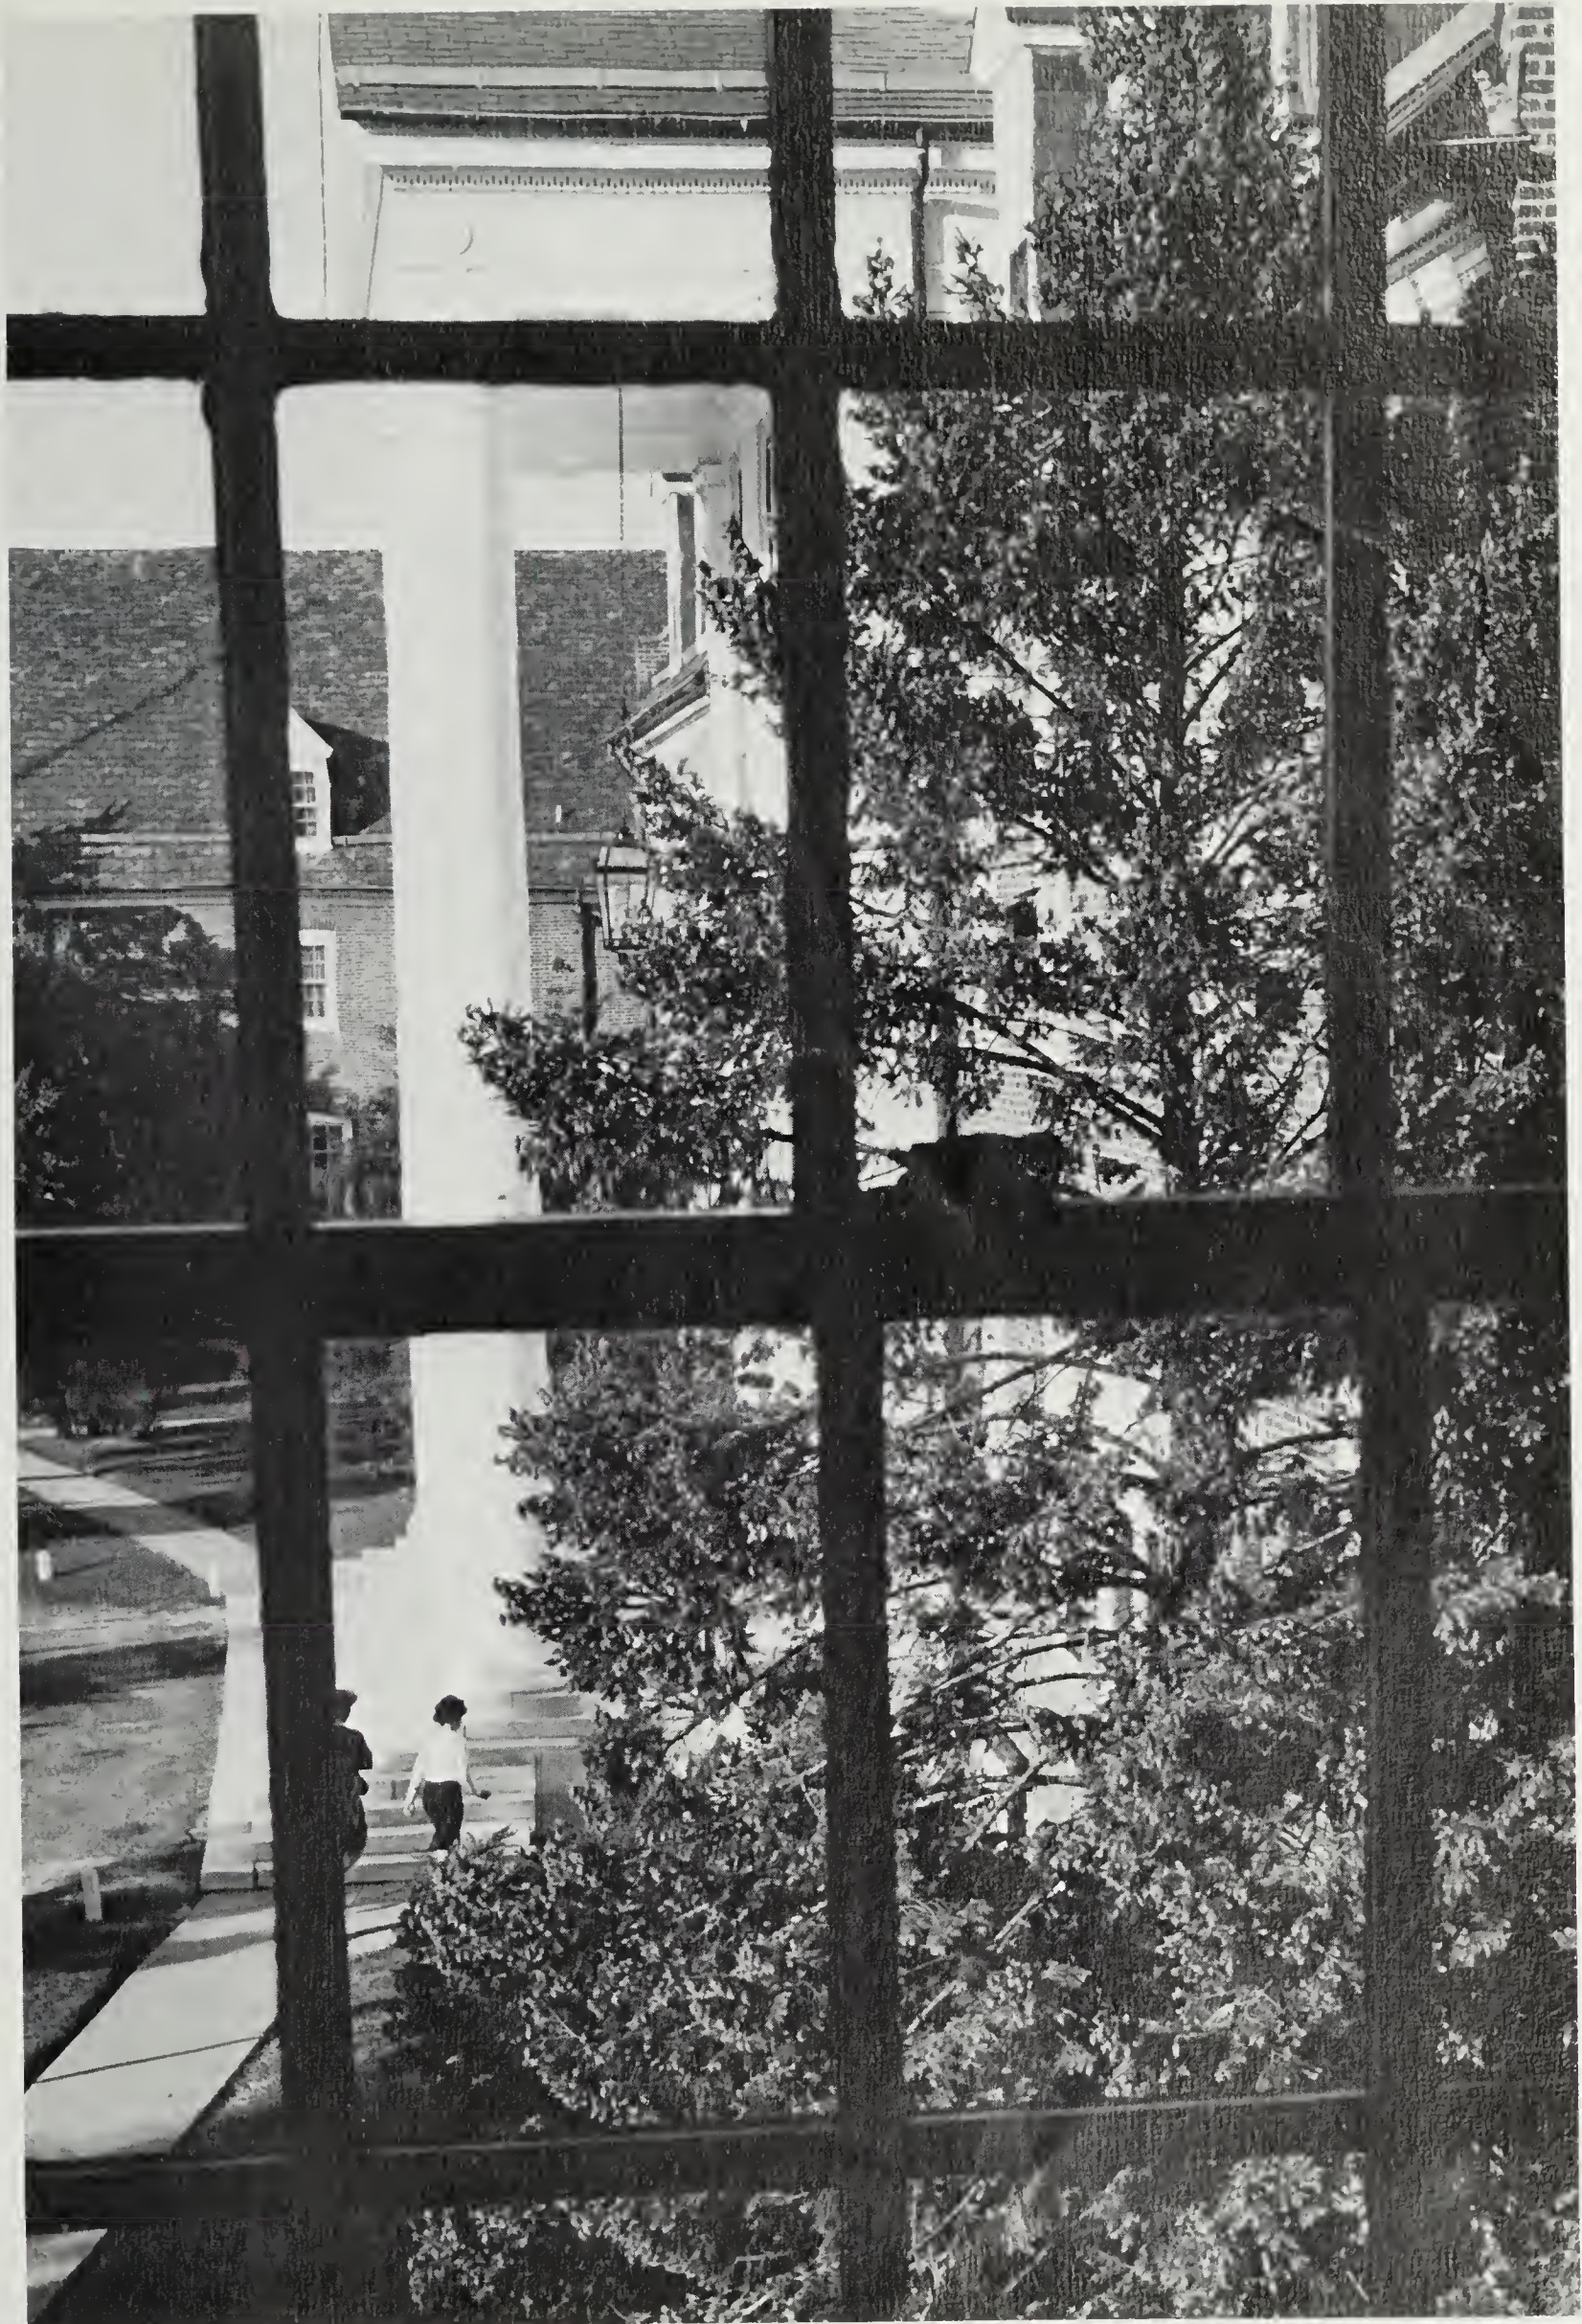

Familiar Scenes in the Life of an SSC Student

The park and campus in winter and the portico in fall are familiar sights to S.S.C. students, although seldom appreciated until captured by the eye of a camera.

FOREWORD

A college does not exist as an entity; it is an integral part of the community. The city of Salisbury and the College are expanding in size and facilities. New buildings are being constructed and new personalities are being drawn by the increasing opportunities to the city and to the suburbs. This year's increased enrollment and addition of new faculty members are significant proof of the expansion of our College.

There has been increasing exchange between the College and the community. The College offers to the community cultural programs of symphony concerts, chorus, and dramatic productions, art exhibits, and outstanding lectures by well-known personalities. It also distributes clothes and toys to the needy children at Christmas time. The merchants of Salisbury provide many services for the students in return for their patronage. The community park is a beauty spot enjoyed by all and Canal Park has provided a pleasant setting for many enjoyable picnics.

This growth of the College and the community is reflected in the 1966 Evergreen.

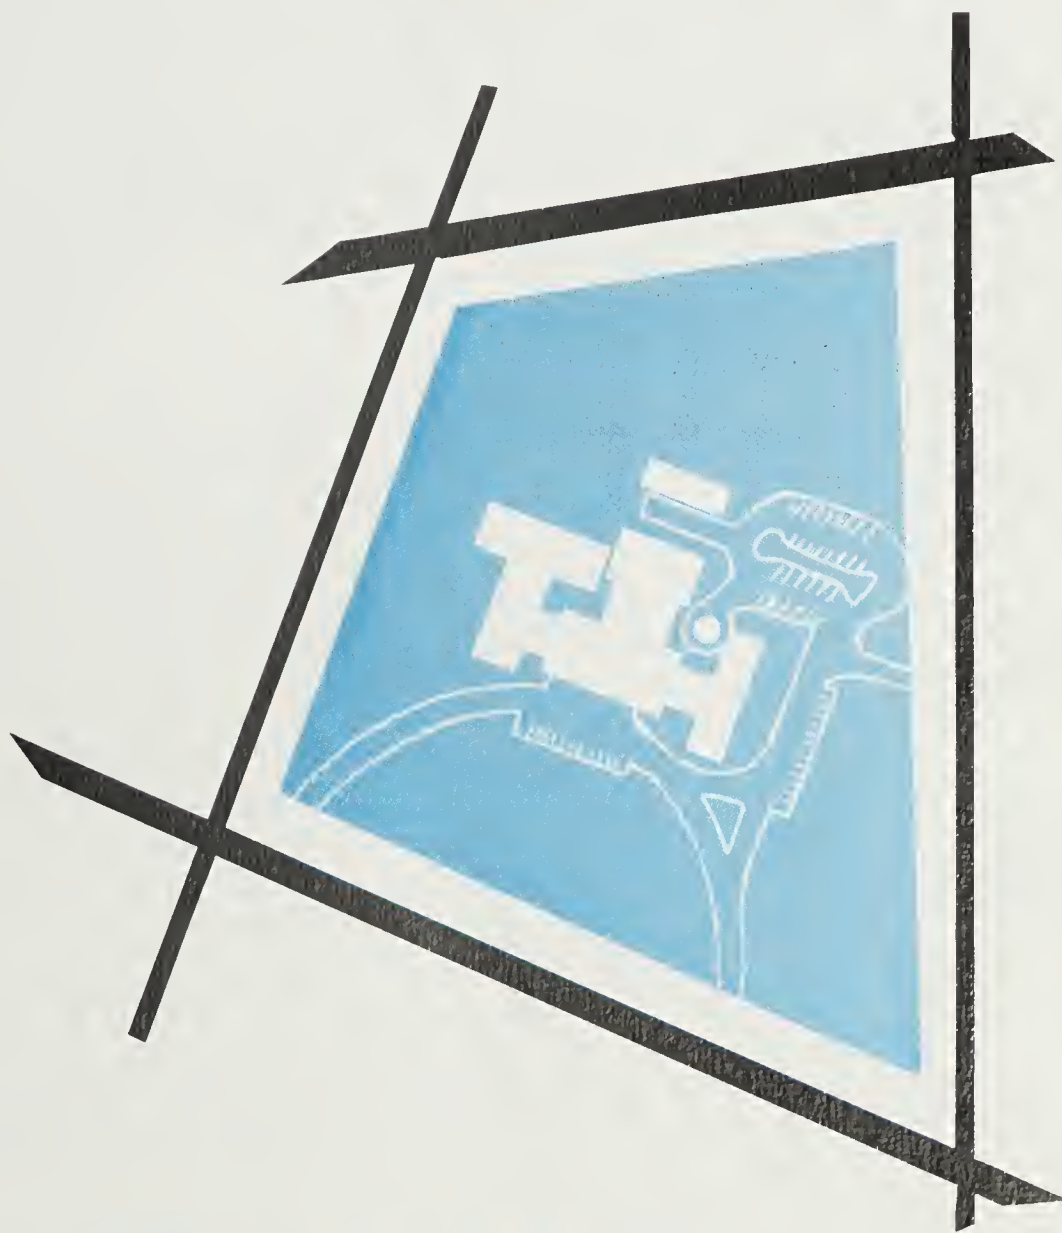

A variety of activities are pursued by S.S.C. students in the time remaining after the completion of their academic responsibilities.

SSC Students Grow Socially as Well as Academically.

Members of a record-breaking Freshman Class, the largest enrollment in S.S.C's history, take a break in their busy day to get acquainted with new friends.

Message to Graduates

To each member of the graduating class I extend best wishes for much success in your chosen profession or vocation. It is my hope that during the time you have spent in this College you have found the opportunity to stretch the range of "eye" and "ear" to the eternal miracle of life with its limitless possibilities.

Education does not end with a degree or diploma. An attitude toward learning that I hope each has developed must be carried into life after graduation. The demands of our rapidly changing society for knowledge, intellectual skills and quality performance can never be satisfied by what can be compressed into four years of formal college work. Rather, education is coterminous with life itself.

If you have had your appetite whetted for further learning and have achieved that measure of self-discipline which leads to self-education, then you have received a head start toward a successful and satisfying life.

GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION*

Student Government Association

The Student Government Association is an organization that coordinates all activities on campus for the students of the college. This includes not only items of social interest but also academic and cultural matters that involve the students as a whole. This organization acts as a liaison between the faculty administration and students to provide a means of better coordination and cooperation among all three.

While the S.G.A. is the students the Board is the representative of these students and acts on their recommendation and interests. The S.G.A. becomes fully realized and hence a really worthwhile organization when the students make use of it.

The S.G.A. besides providing social activities throughout the year is the only organization on campus which deals with the major problems affecting the majority of the students.

Social Committee

Operating under the auspices of the SGA and with the guidance of the Social Director of the College, the Social Committee plans a balanced program of social activities for the college year. It is composed of two members from each directed by chairman elected by the whole student body. Setting up the calendar, the committee incorporates all major campus dances, hootenannies, feature movies, indoor picnics, Snack Bar dances, and other informal entertainment features. Other campus organizations and clubs look to the Social Committee for assistance in planning their own social activities, providing harmonious campus life throughout the year.

ACTIVITIES

Freshman Orientation

Every September, the college witnesses the tradition of "hazing" — formally called Freshman Orientation. One by one, the freshmen arrive, register in their respective dorms, and begin to unpack and meet new friends. Excitement is in the air. Meanwhile, the concerned upperclassmen offer their assistance, dutifully, thinking only of helping the freshmen adjust to college life. To meet this end, the upperclassmen plan a whirlwind of activities and — "fitness programs." The freshmen begin the week — nose to the ground — with exercises, disaster preparations, receptions, dances, and other organized fun. Obedience and respect are instilled in the freshmen. All too soon the week is over, bells ring and classes begin.

OPEN HOUSE

Prior to Thanksgiving, the Men's Dormitory Association and the Women's Dormitory Association combine their talents to sponsor "Open House." The W.D.A. is noted for their "spectaculars," with each hall or room, decorated in depicting a chosen theme. The M.D.A., while not noted for their diversity in decor, compensate with an abundance of refreshments. All in all, the time spent during "Open House" is enjoyable to say the least.
